In 2006, LAD opened the Legal Aid for Children (LAC) office at the Children’s Hospital of Michigan. LAC educates medical professionals to recognize and refer civil legal issues creating barriers to improvements in children’s health. In the first months of operation, LAC assisted 146 children and their families with legal problems in landlord/

LAD works in partnership with the Wayne County Treasurer to conduct clinics where residents are assisted in completing and filing hardship applications for additional time to pay delinquent 2003 property taxes. During 2006, 100% of the applications with which LAD assisted were granted, avoiding homelessness for many low-income families.

tenant, medical benefits, special education or other legal matters which were inhibiting the family’s ability to improve the child’s medical health. LAD also assisted families threatened with losing their homes because of foreclosure rescue scams in which “investors” induce the homeowner into transferring ownership to “save” the home and then steal the home equity. LAD staff helped create a task force with the Michigan Poverty Law Program which collaborates with the Michigan Attorney General’s office in stopping these scams. LAD attorneys also assisted the local district court in drafting a court rule to specify requirements for bringing legal collection actions against consumers. Prior to the new court rule, suits were filed with little or no documentation of the debt, or they misidentified the consumer. The new court rule has stopped many mistaken or improper lawsuits from going forward against low-income consumers who are ill-equipped to defend against such actions.

A mother lives with a son who suffers from renal disease and was receiving dialysis. After she fell behind in her mortgage payments, she and her son were in danger of losing their home. LAD negotiated a loan modification which incorporated the arrearage into the balance and enabled her to afford future payments by only paying $10 more per month allowing this family to keep their home and continue the son’s dialysis treatment uninterrupted.
