

CIVIL LEGAL AID IN MICHIGAN

2025 Grantee Services Report

The Michigan State Bar Foundation (MSBF) provides leadership and grants to improve access for all in the justice system, including support for civil legal aid, law-related education and conflict resolution. The report explores Michigan's civil legal aid infrastructure and highlights essential services and outcomes made possible through MSBF funding. It serves as a resource for policy makers and constituents, particularly those living below 125% of the federal poverty guidelines.

Civil Legal Needs in Michigan

The Foundation distributes annual operating grants, a critical source of funding, to Legal Aid programs to address the legal challenges faced by thousands of low-income households.

Approximately 1.7 million low-income residents qualified for legal aid in Michigan.

$40,188 annual household income for a family of four living below 125% of the federal poverty guidelines.

One legal aid attorney available for every 4,785 eligible people in Michigan.

A Continuum of Services for Constituents

The Legal Aid programs coordinate services through a statewide network to assist and resolve the legal challenges faced by clients.

Michigan Legal Help Program (MLH), an online clearinghouse, is a resource that provides information on legal topics, links to forms and other self help resources. The website includes a triage and referral function through the Guide to Legal Help, a step-by-step tool directing constituents to the right resources.

In 2025, MLH had nearly 1.82 million unique visitors to its website www.michiganlegalhelp.org.

Counsel and Advocacy Law Line (CALL) is a statewide attorney staffed hotline for low-income households. CALL attorneys advise on civil matters including housing, public benefits, consumer law, domestic relations, and unemployment benefits. It provides advice to individuals and direct referrals to Legal Aid organizations.

In 2025, CALL provided legal advice and referrals for 14,457 closed cases.

Nonprofit civil legal aid organizations provide representation in complex cases and other matters requiring an attorney. Integrated within their communities, these programs work with community partners to identify people who need legal help. They also provide the infrastructure that enables volunteer attorneys to deliver pro bono services.

In 2025, private attorneys contributed 16,657 hours of pro bono assistance to low-income clients.

Stories of Impact: Behind the Numbers

Maintaining Housing Stability for a Veteran

Victor, a military veteran, faced eviction from his subsidized housing due to a dispute over unpaid rent and failure to complete required recertification paperwork. Although Victor had submitted the necessary documentation and the Department of Veterans Affairs offered to assist in resolving the issue, the landlord moved forward with eviction proceedings. Legal Aid worked with Victor and the VA to negotiate a resolution that restored his tenancy, preserved his affordable rent, and waived additional fees. With legal representation, Victor was able to remain in his home and avoid eviction.

Restoring Financial Security

After suffering a stroke, Jackie became severely disabled and moved into long-term care. During the transition to a new facility, her Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance (RSDI) benefits were discontinued, threatening the financial security she depended on to meet her basic needs. A long-term care ombudsman referred Jackie to Legal Aid. Legal Aid investigated her case and filed an appeal demonstrating good cause. Her case was reopened and Jackie was awarded her full RSDI benefits and nearly $18,000 in retroactive payments, providing the financial stability needed to support her ongoing care and daily needs.
